City Commends Pool Staff for Quick Thinking & Action

On June 23rd, a patron at the Stayton Family Memorial Pool began to show signs of a medical emergency while swimming. Aleya Hill, an alert lifeguard noticed the emergency and dove into the pool to rescue the patron. Aquatics Director Billie Maurer responded to assist Ms. Hill.

Together, and with the assistance of additional pool staff, they were able to place a backboard under the patient and remove the patron from the pool. Once out of the pool, Mrs. Maurer and Ms. Hill observed the patron was not breathing and had no pulse. They quickly started CPR which included the use of an AED (Automated External Defibrillator). At that time, another member of the pool staff called 9-1-1. Members of the Stayton Fire District, Santiam Ambulance, and Stayton Police Department rushed to the scene after the 9-1-1 call was placed. By the time first responder's arrived on the scene, the patron was breathing thanks to the quick thinking and actions of Ms. Hill and Mrs. Maurer.

Preparation for this type of emergency is continuous and on-going for the lifeguards and the hope is they will never need to use their training.

Mrs. Maurer indicated she believed this was the first time CPR was needed at the Stayton Family Memorial Pool. It is clear today that both Mrs. Maurer and Ms. Hill took their responsibility seriously and were prepared to act when faced with an emergency. The City wants to commend Aleya Hill and Billie Maurer for their quick thinking and action.
