

These little clay “bombs” contain soil & wildflower seeds. On Earth Day (4/22), find a spot that needs some beauty & toss them in. Rain will wash away the clay, the soil will help the seeds sprout & the world will be a bit more beautiful!

You will need:

- air-drying clay
- soil
- seeds

Cover your work surface to protect it from dirt and spills.

Break off a bit of clay and roll it into a ball. Use your thumb to create an indent, and insert a pinch of soil, followed by a pinch of seeds. Seal the indent and re-roll into a ball.

Let your bombs dry out at least overnight.

These little clay “bombs” contain soil & wildflower seeds. On Earth Day (4/22), find a spot that needs some beauty & toss them in. Rain will wash away the clay, the soil will help the seeds sprout & the world will be a bit more beautiful!

You will need:

- air-drying clay
- soil
- seeds

Cover your work surface to protect it from dirt and spills.

Break off a bit of clay and roll it into a ball. Use your thumb to create an indent, and insert a pinch of soil, followed by a pinch of seeds. Seal the indent and re-roll into a ball.

Let your bombs dry out at least overnight.