

DIY MACRAME KEYCHAIN

SUPPLIES:

- Macrame cord (3mm is included)
- Clasp key chains

INSTRUCTIONS:

1. Cut two pieces of cord three feet long.
2. Attach the first piece of macrame cord to the split ring with a larks head knot. You can do this knot by folding the cord in half, wrapping the folded end of the cord around the ring, and pulling the ends of the cord through the loop of the folded end. Pull to tighten. (fig. 1)
3. Repeat the larks head knot with the second piece of cord.
4. Start with your first spiral knot. A spiral knot is made by taking the outer left cord and crossing it over the two middle cords, then taking the outer right cord and placing it over the end of the left cord and UNDER the two middle cords and loop it through the hole on the left side. Pull it tight. (fig. 2)
5. Continue with your spiral knots, making sure you always put the left cord on top first. This will make the knots spiral. (fig. 3)
6. Once you're happy with the length of your spiral, finish it by tying all four cords together in a knot. Then trim the end so about two inches remain.
7. Brush through the end cords so that they fray. (fig. 4)
8. Once you have unraveled all the cording below the knot, cut the tassel in a straight line. (fig. 5)
